

29.10

• countable and uncountable nouns.

book, mistakes, shop, are countable. There is a plural form.

milk, money, bread are uncountable nouns.

There is no plural form.

count uncountable becomes countable by adding "a piece of ..."

• some, any, much, many, a lot, a few, a little

- use some with uncountable and plural countable in affirmative sentences.

- use any with uncountable in questions.

- much, more, a lot used to talk about big quantities.